

Low power translators in the Phoenix area operated by Air 1 provide important news, health, and community information. The listeners in our area support it and wish to continue the current policies and operation of low power translators in our area.